The RUHS Tower

One of the city of Richmond's most noteworthy sites is the eighty-five foot tower of Richmond Union High School which is the school's contribution to the landmarks of the vicinity.

The tower, which was constructed in 1927 and is located at 1250 Twenty-Third Street, was first occupied by the Music Department. The tower attic has served as a storage room, mostly for stage props and costumes, throughout the years.

After the construction of the music building in 1953-54, Room 63, the tower classroom, was used by various departments for classes. Due to the lack of emergency exits, the tower became vacant from classes last year. At the present time, the room is used for storing the English Department files.

Richmond Civic Center

Today the Richmond Civic Center stands as a model for other cities throughout the country which are seeking to build a civic center. The center, which was completed in 1954, stands on six blocks of land in the residential area, one mile east of the downtown business district. It is bounded on the south by Macdonald Avenue and on the North by Barret Avenue.

All major cultural activities take place within a few hundred feet of each other. In the heart of the center is a spacious plaza, which in itself can become an additional outdoor room. The main buildings of the complex include a City Hall, a Hall of Justice, the main Library, and a magnificant Auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 4,000.

Thus the Civic Center proudly stands because of a community of citizens who wanted to express their confidence in the future of the City of Richmond.

We Dedicate Our Shield

In February, you, Miss Mary Gately, with the jauntiest smile this side of County Clare, snatched the rug from under our feet and left us flat. You retired. We call this an Irish trick with trimmings. We and everybody else had come to think of you as fixed as the North Star, as tireless as Galway's tides, as uncomplaining as Paddy's anvil when the sparks fly. After all, you were forty-three-and-a half years queening it over Room Five, the mighty nerve-center of our mighty school. Perky, happy, resourceful, endlessly good-naturedly helpful, you kept us afloat and on course while you busily kept the growing archives, joshing with this person and that. But now we know that in your generous heart there were powerful yearnings to become unfixed, unbound and unburdened.

But not uncommitted, Miss Mary Gately. We know you too well to think that. Clearly do we recall your wonderful pilgrimage to Rome in 1950, the Holy Year, and your fierce addiction to pious, humane and selfless acts. You will, in all certainty, continue to be as deeply involved in mankind as you were when you regulated the heart-beat of Richmond Union High. But you will have more freedom and time, less pressure and haste in which to invite your soul and do your deeds of goodness. For this we must sincerely and hugely rejoice.

So what is there left to say, Miss Mary Gately, you Irish (once removed) flower of Richmond? That you sprang from the soil of Richmond? That you live in the house you were born in? That you graduated from RUHS in 1920? That you began running things at RUHS in 1921? That you know everybody and everything in your sprawling hometown? That you understand young people and like them immensely? That you, quite baldly, know your stuff? That for all these reasons and many more, RUHS has good reason to lament losing you, its most distinguished secretary, mentor, friend and alumna? Yes, we can say these things and one thing more. Like the Class of 1952, who had the honor and privilege of doing it before us, we too, the Class of 1965, dedicate our Shield to you.

To Richmond High "Landmarks"

Take a female character out of Corneille or Racine, streamline and raise to the nth power, add all synonyms of wise, kind, blithe, playful, cool, gallant, modest, captivating, sprinkle with elan, humor and old-fashioned horse-sense, cover with swishly casual clothes, ferment for thirty-seven years in rooms full of students, and lo! you have the mellow essence of Mrs. Blanche Sandford. She talks fast, says lots, means worlds, feels everything. She teaches French but imparts philosophy. Zigzagging among verbs and nouns, she pinions the great or subtle ideas expressed therein, and holds them up for all to see, probe, accept or reject. No pedant in mothballs, she is modern to a fault, liberal to the marrow, and fair to the bottom of her king-size heart.

Despite her phenomenal style, no teacher could be more our own than Mrs. Sandford. Pinole-born-and-bred, educated at RUHS and the University of California, she returned like a homing-pigeon to Richmond High for her first, last, only and utterly triumphant episode of teaching. Students took to her like ducks to water. Year after year it was the same, whether she walked down the aisles, knocking books off study-hall desks, thereby foiling a crafty student-plot or whether she pinned back crimson ears in rich French or English or plain Richmondese. No one could resist her; no one ever tried. She was mobbed, imitated, adored and run after; and incidentally she taught lots of French.

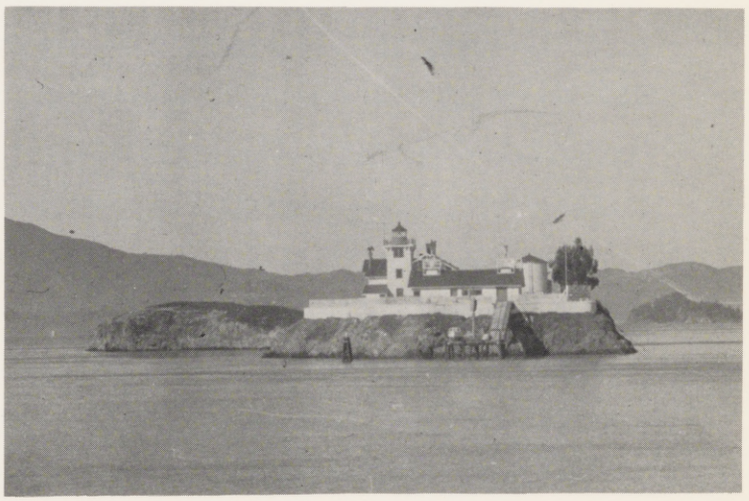
The sad note for us in the midst of this happy recital is that Mrs. Sandford, though still at the top of her prodigious form, is quitting RUHS for no good reason that we can conceive. Perhaps we, full of self-importance, thought that we were her world. Well, we were, a little. Maybe the simple truth is that she loves her cats and her mountains, her brand-new Dart and the leisure in which to enjoy them more than she loves chalk-dust, language-labs, bells and Oilers. But one thing is plain. We positively know that Richmond High will never be the same without Mrs. Sandford to run to, joke with, learn from, and we rather pity the post-Sandford students of RUHS. However, we must mind our manners, put a good face on things and swallow our fretful protests. So, meilleurs voeux, Mrs. Sandford. Here is our Shield. We, the Class of 1965, and it are dedicated to you. We love you, as you must know. Somehow, leaving RUHS in your splendid company reassures us and makes of our graduation something of an awesome landmark.

Memorial Park was built to honor the local boys who gave their lives for their country during World War 1. It is located between 12th and 13th Streets on Bissell. Construction of the park began in 1923. Dedication of the park was November 11, 1928, when the War Mothers of Richmond and the Citizens of Richmond erected a plaque with the names of thirty local boys who lost their lives in World War 1.

The San Pablo Resovoir, located on the Dam Road between El Sobrante and Orinda, provides Richmond and the surrounding communities with water. Besides being a source of water, the resovoir area is a source of intense natural beauty.

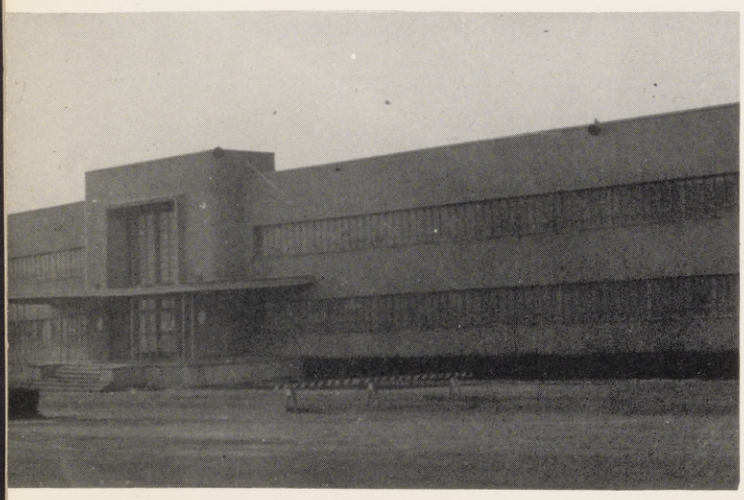
The library at 4th and Nevin is the city's oldest library. Today it is a branch of the Richmond Public Libraries and houses the Richmond museum too.

On February 14, 1950, Contra Costa Junior College began classes in the building below at Point Richmond. Joseph P. Cosanp was the first dean of the college. In the Fall of 1956 the college was moved to its present site at the foot of Tank Farm Hill in San Pablo.



The oldest lighthouse in San Pablo Bay serves as a warning to ships on foggy and stormy nights. The lighthouse was operated by the Stenmark Family for many years dating back to approximately 1906. It is operated by the United State Coast Guard today and was probably constructed around the year of 1870.

Whale oil was once a very vital product, but with the development of the petroleum fields and of electricity, whale oil lost its place of importance. Today the only whaling station left on the California coast is located in Richmond.



The old Pullman Building on Carlson Boulevard was at one time a focal point of Richmond Industry. The Pullman Company manufacture the finest sleeping cars for trains made. Today the building stands as a reminder of Richmond's past lustre.

Many years ago these ships were sunk off point San Pablo to make a water break. These ships form a water break for the Richmond Yacht Harbor.

Foreword

The citizens of Richmond are rightly proud of their city with its handsome buildings and striking landmarks. The Shield staff has used these buildings and landmarks as the symbols of Richmond's history. Each division page is devoted to some phase of Richmond's development and on each of them we have placed a picture and written a description of the appropriate Richmond landmark. Among the landmarks we have chosen as representative of Richmond's excellence are the Richmond Civic Center, the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the Standard Oil Refinery, the Naval Installation at Point Molate, the Richmond Golf and Country Club, the Macdonald Underpass, the Point Richmond Tunnel, and several others which appear here on the Foreword page. We have also included two landmarks of RUHS, the Rock and the Tower. The Rock appears on the Shield cover and the Tower on an introductory page.

We chose our theme, Landmarks of Richmond, because it seemed very important to us. We wanted to show off the wonderful accomplishments achieved by Richmond's citizens through the years, and by doing so, to express our admiration and gratitude to those fine and dedicated men and women who made them realities. We also wanted to instill in ourselves, in the student body and in all the young people of Richmond, the same desire and drive for civic excellence which inspired our parents and their parents and grandparents to make of Richmond such an extraordinarily fine, bustling, prosperous and modern city.

The Richmond Plunge was built in 1939 at Point Richmond. The Plunge is a recreational facility for the whole family where swimming is possible all year round.

Before Richmond was linked to San Francisco and San Rafael by bridges, the Santa Fe Company used the above device to turn train cars around.

Administration

One of the familiar scenes of the city of Richmond is the Point Richmond tunnel, which was constructed in 1915 for the purpose of gaining access to industries located on the Point. The tunnel begins at the Richmond Plunge and terminates at Keller's Beach.

This landmark was constructed by the order of the city of Richmond under the direction of Major E.J. Garrard and the City Council.

Government

The Standard Oil Refinery was established at Point Richmond by William S. Rheem in 1901. Rheem later became the president of the refinery, which is the third largest in the world. The company now employs 4,000 people in the refinery alone. The installation, which contains the Rod and Gun Club within its boundaries, covers 2,000 acres.

Nicholl Park was established in 1926, when the city of Richmond purchased 18 acres of land from the Nicholl estate upon which the old home of the Nicholl family was located. Mrs. Mary Kruger, daughter of the late John Nicholl, gave the gate and the flag for the park. Mrs. Kruger later left $5,000 for the future development of the project. In honor of the Nicholl family the park was given the name of Nicholl Park, which is located on Macdonald Avenue between 29 and 32 streets.

Class of '65 Leaves Many Memories

On September 5, 1962, 1,239 members of the Class of '65 began their three activity-filled years at Richmond Union High School.

September 14 was the day when tryouts for Sophomore Yell Leader were held. Elected to lead us at the rallies and games were Diane Nooner and Jo Etta Conwright. Cecelia McWaters was our Sophomore Majorette.

Elected to preside over our class during the fall semester were Scott Kyle, president; Jean Ingram, vice-president; and Janet Davis, secretary. Girls' League Representatives selected were Catherine Captain, Barbara Lee, and Sandy Ott.

During the '63 football season, the Sophs were well-represented by John Crowder, Bill Levine, Joe Duarte, Steve Silva, Craig Baker, Lee Ballard, Brian Martin, Greg Livermore, Jim Jameson, Dennis Braddy, Scott Kyle, and Lardell Oliver. The season closed with a record of four wins and three defeats.

Out of 17 candidates for Sophomore Homecoming Attendant, our victor was Linda Johns, who attended the reigning queen at the Homecoming Dance, Nov. 9, 1962.

The second semester Soph officers were Jim Lowe, president; Carla Streightiff, vice-president; and Marilyn Davenport, secretary-treasurer. Girls' League Representatives were Courtney Bell, Gwendolyn Jackson, and Diane Lewis.

Two Sophomores, Tommy Champion and Terry Layton, played Varsity Basketball and helped the team to its record of eight wins and eight losses.

Chosen to lead the Fall Semester of our Junior year were Terry Layton, president; Jim Quinn, vice-president; and Janet Davis, secretary-treasurer. Girls' League Representatives were Barbara Dahl, Ellen Hoffmann, and Sharon Hunter. Linda Steacy and Jo Etta Conwright, class Yell Leaders; and Carla Streightiff and Cecelia McWaters, class majorettes, were our representatives at rallies and games.

Juniors who made the Varisty Football team were Wayne Willet, Dick Foster, Paul Northcutt, and Jim Lowe. Their season ended with a record of three wins, five defeats, and one tie.

The 1963 Varsity Basketball Squad showed the names of five Juniors: Bill Young, Terry Layton, Jim McKinney, Roy Cole, and Tommy Champion. The team won twelve and lost twelve.

Officers leading us in the Spring semester were Jim Lowe, president; Ron Walters, vice-president; and Sue Berklacich, secretary-treasurer. Other offices filled by Juniors were: Girls' League Representatives: Jo Etta Conwright, Cynthia Holland, and Mable Scott. Those Juniors holding SA offices were Marilyn Davenport, defense attorney, and Gail Wolkenhauer, Commissioner of Social Affairs.

Juniors worked hard and presented the "Junior Jollies", the annual Junior Talent Show, February 27, 1964, to raise money for the Junior Prom. The Prom, "Heavenly Mist", was held April 18, 1964, and Cissy McWaters won the title of queen. She was attended by Linda Martin and Beverly Lodetti.

These are only a few of the many highlights of our wonderful Sophomore and Junior years. The greatest highlights are to be reviewed in the following pages of our most important year--the one in which we are the Upperclassmen--the Seniors!

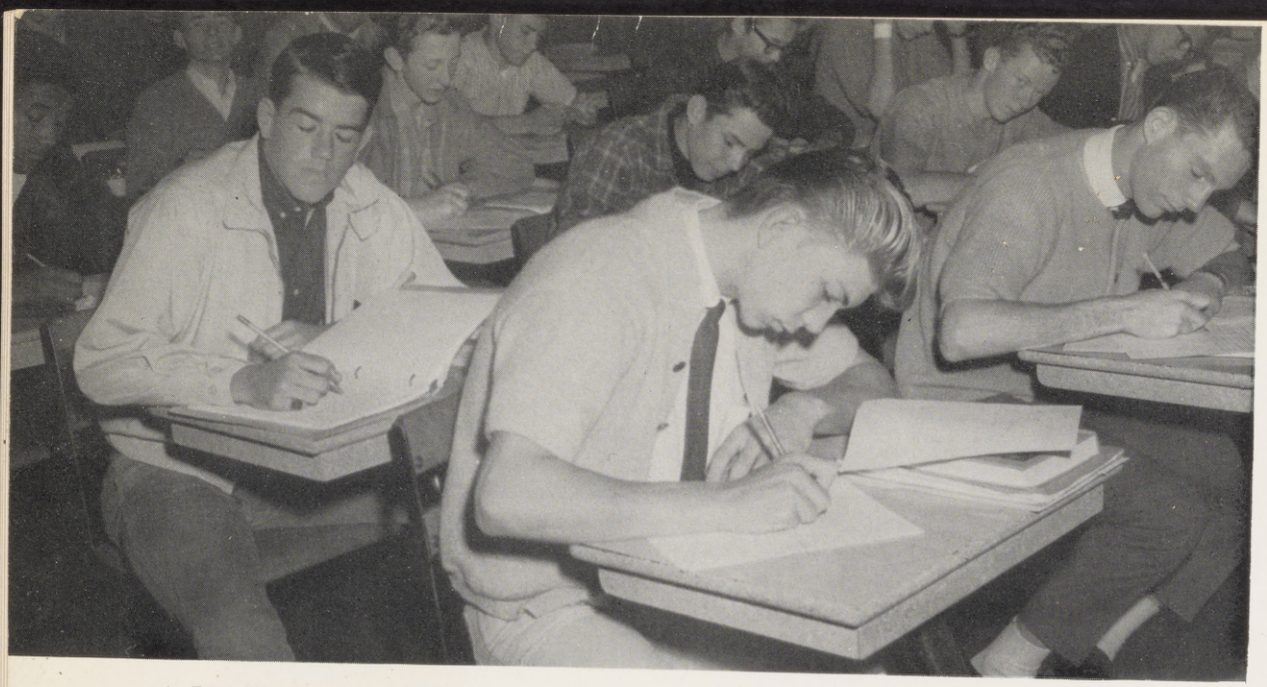
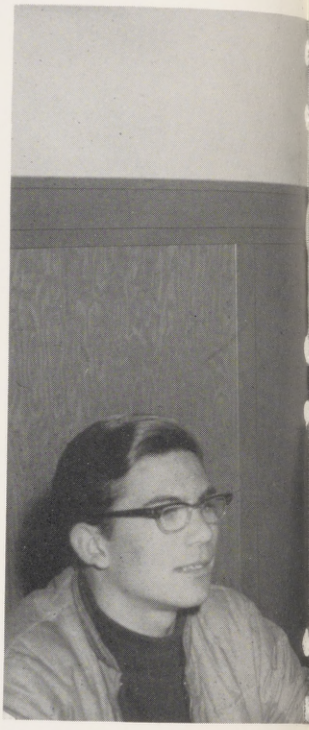
Pre-Technology Program Enables Students to Make Practical Use of Their Knowledge of Machines



Dick Watley, David Walker, and Lee Harrison realize the course requires study.

Robert Schieberl, Adrian Hurtado, Dick Watley and Mike Ramun are busy preparing material for pre-tech project.



Marrion Maddox, George Barlow, David Walker, Robert Schieberl, John Apodaca and Arno Brewer discuss project in Tech-Lab.

PRE-TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM

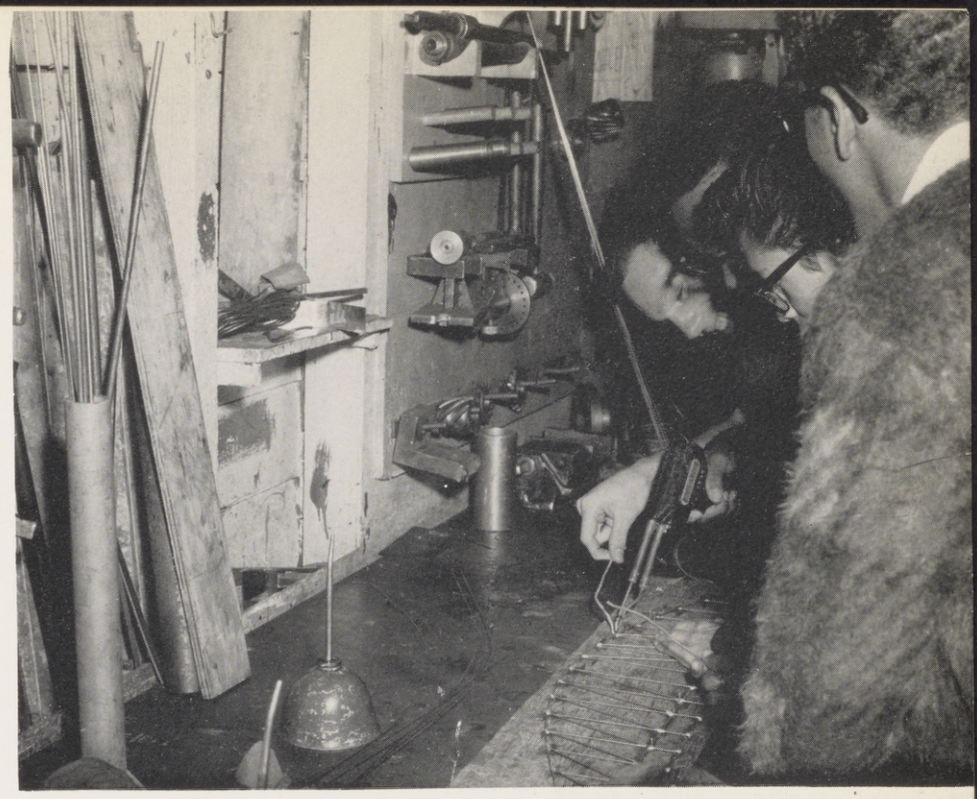
This year a new program has been introduced at Richmond High School. Twenty-six Junior boys are enrolled in the two-year program to prepare them for further education in technical fields of their choice.

The course consists of classes in Physics, Algebra, English, and the Technological Laboratory (Tech-Lab). Work in all classes is done at a pace which insures that all students understand the subject.

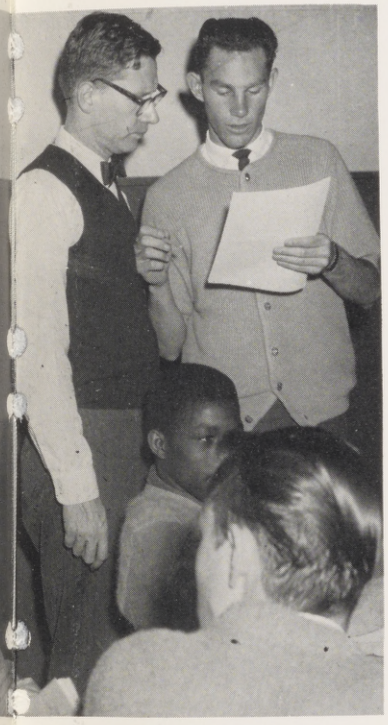
The students play an important part in planning projects and choosing books. The teachers meet once a week to plan classes and to discuss the students and their progress.

The effort is made to integrate each class with the others. For example, a problem discussed in Physics is solved mathematically in Algebra; then a project to illustrate the problem is built in the Tech-Lab, and every step is written up in English. The object is to make practical use of what is learned about machines, mathematics, physical principles, and the English language.

The instructors of the Pre-Technology Program are Mr. Roy Fogel, Physics and Algebra; Mr. Franz Snyder, English; and Mr. Gordon Barnes, Tech-Lab.



Lee Harrison, Arno Brewer, John Apodaca, and George Barlow work on constructing a bridge.



George Simpier and Leon Greer are seated in class while Mr. Snyder checks Lee Harrison's assignment.

Larry Belles, Arno Brewer, Jim Sevier, Joe Pang and Lee Woolridge observe light refraction.

Right: Davy Marshall and Dick Watley are busy in the lab.

Activities

Construction of the bridge, which connects Richmond and San Rafael, was begun in 1953, and the construction was completed in 1956, after thirty months of work.

The bridge, which has two decks, extends approximately four miles.

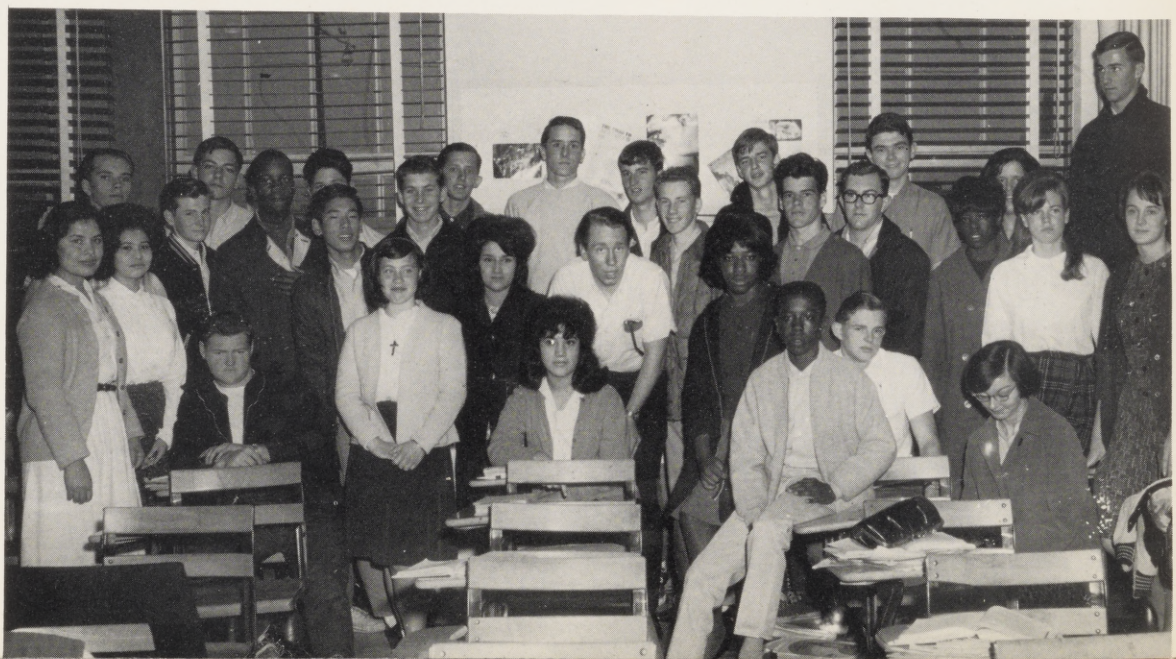
Sidney Bush and Randy Collins gladly donate money to this collector.

All donation are given freely by the language class members.



This is just one of the Spanish classes, which helps to support the Foster children.

Richmond Union High's Language Department has supported foster children for 17 years.

This year the students of this department send $60.00 per month: $15.00 for each of the four students they are helping. They are supporting Josue Rafael Parra, age 13; Salvador Augusto Varela, age 13; and Marie Teresa Hernandez, also 13, all of Colombia. The fourth child is Laura Fernandez, age 15, of Manila, Philippine.

All of the language classes donate money each month to raise the needed $60.00. This $15.00 per child helps clothe, feed, house and educate them. Each child is supported until the age of 17. At this age he begins to work at the trade he learned while attending school.

Each month Josue, Saluadar, Laura, and Marie write letters to the students at Richmond Union High School telling them about their life in their home country. In turn the students at Richmond High write telling them about life in America. These letters are translated by the Foster Parents Plan who selected these needy students for Richmond High.

Varsity Football Arouses

1964 FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS

The 1964 Oiler Varsity Football season saw plenty of hard-nosed, thrillpacked action as the Navy-Blue and Red charged into the melee and emerged with a 3-4-1 record and the all-city championship. There were two notable upsets during the season, one for Richmond and the other against, as the local team beat the El Cerrito Gauchos for the first time in three years and lost to Pacific High's Vikings for the first time ever.

Of the nine schools in the ACAL, Richmond placed fifth behind San Leandro, Alameda, Berkeley, and El Cerrito. The Oilers were followed by Encinal, Pacific, De Anza, and Harry Ells.

Oiler Wayne Willet was chosen as a guard on the all ACAL first string team, while Paul Northcutt, Lloyd Madden, Grant Greer, and Bill Levine received ACAL honorable mention.

Grant Greer copped the coveted Oil Can Award for contributing the most to the team. For being the most valuable player, Wayne Willett was presented with the All-American Blanket.

One of the highlights of the season was when the Oilers were chosen to represent the ACAL in a televised game, which was the final contest of the season against the Pacific Vikings and was rebroadcast on Channel 7 the next morning.

Talking over new players for future contests are Fred Brown, assistant coach, and Frank Kocsis, head coach.

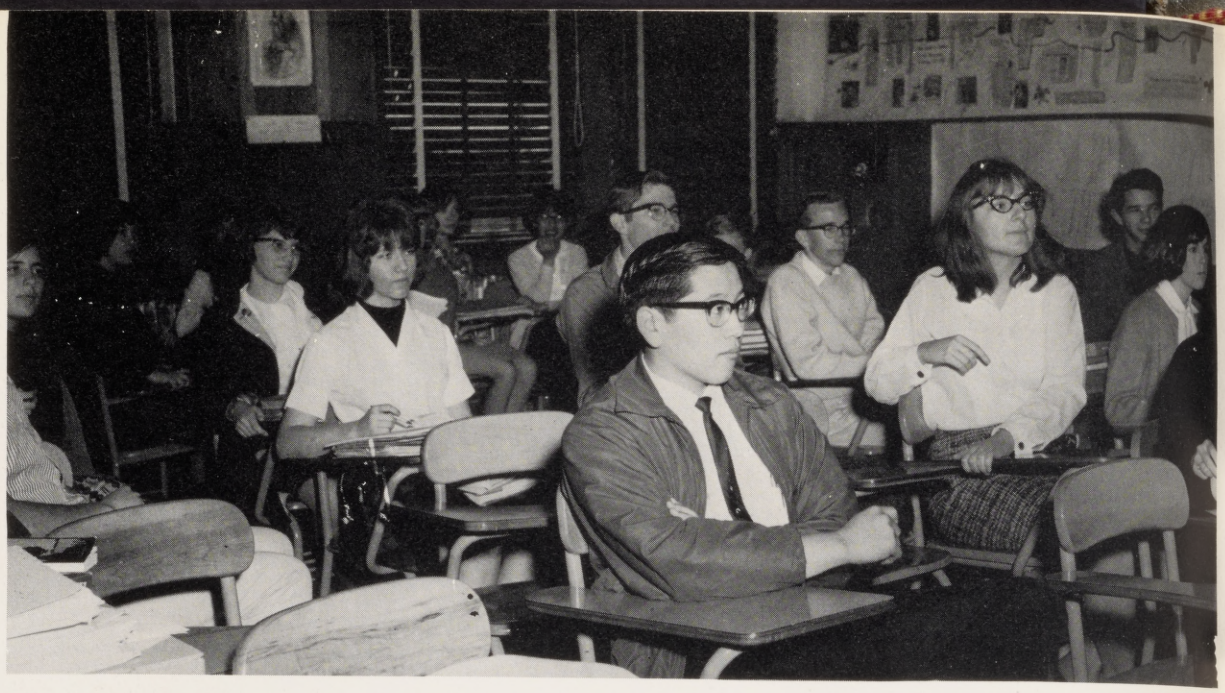
Things To Remember From '65



Students are awed by antics of their instructor.

Diane Golden tries to coax Judy McMullen from her perch and back to her cage.

Some students have wandering eyes on test days.

Left: Norman Clausen tries to persuade Mike Butler to convince the Idaho bushy-tailed run-run to back him in the next election.

The

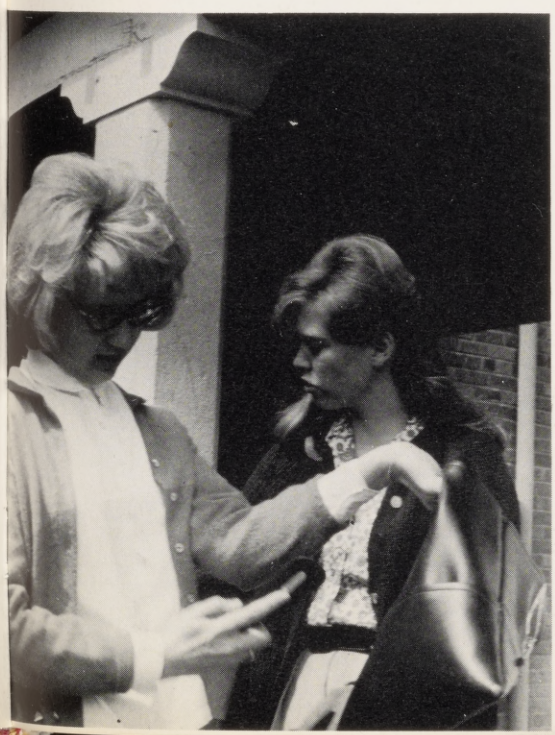
Girls gossip at lunch time constantly.

Carl Lewis now has a leg as hard as his head.

The bell rings for the next class, and students leave the cafeteria

Girls eat because of nervous tensions.

This is a shakedown!



Cheerleaders clap to help pom-pon girls get back into step.

Congratulations, Seniors of "65"

The Southern Pacific Railroad sponsored the construction of the Macdonald underpass, which is located between 16th through 19th Streets on Macdonald Avenue, in 1923 and dedicated it to the city of Richmond. It is 80 feet wide and was originally divided into two equal segments with the south for street cars, while the north was for horse and buggy traffic. The purpose of the underpass is to prevent the railroad from interfering with Macdonald Avenue traffic. During this past year four lanes have been constructed in the underpass.
